Librarian's Report

Magazines donated	161

Donors of Books: Mrs. Elizabeth Sessions, 113; Dr. and Mrs. Goodell, 50; Mrs. Mabel Fisher, 17; Mr. James Gordon, 10; Mrs. W. D. Thomas, 5; Reginald Temple, 1; Mrs. Bowen, 1.

Donors of Magazines: Mr. C. C. Ramsdell, 104; Mrs. Dwight Moody, 25; Mrs. Goodell, 13; Mr. L. O. Noble, 12; Miss Elizabeth Sessions, 5; Mrs. H. H. Thresher, 2.

An increase of nearly 1700 books and magazines loaned during the past year will be noted. This is partly due to the present times, which has increased library work everywhere, and also to the beautiful new library room to which we moved in June.

The new library in the Mowry Memorial room of the Town House was opened at the dedication of the building on June 20th.

We wish to thank our friends for the books and magazines they have so kindly given. Books in foreign languages and non-fiction can be borrowed from the Library Commissioners for anyone wishing them. In the past six months we have had thirty-eight of these.

The set of pictures from paintings by British artists was enjoyed by those coming to the library during their stay here, August 20th to October 18th.

We are looking forward to another good year and hope everyone will enjoy their library books.

Please remember that the promptness with which the one-week books are returned helps your neighbor to the new books he would like too.

Sincerely.

MRS. HAZEL M. BURLEIGH,

Librarian

Hampden, Dec. 31, 1932.

Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the School Committee of Hampden:

Madam and Gentlemen:—

Herewith is submitted my report as Superintendent of Schools for the year ending December 31, 1932.

Health Survey.

In January Dr. Fredrika Moore, Pediatrician, assisted by Miss Aura E. Kepler, Consultant in School Nursing, and Miss Mary Spalding, Consultant in Nutrition, all of the Department of Public Health, made a "Health Survey" of the Hampden schools, and later sent to my office a detailed report of the survey with comments and recommendations. This survey was without cost to the town.

The report is too long to publish in full. As was to be expected, there was commendation of some features of the health work and suggestion of ways in which improvements might be made in some particulars. Some of the recommendations made have already been adopted. With reference to the annual examination of children which state law requires, the report recommended that each child be stripped to the waist in order to make possible a more thorough examination of heart, lungs, and spinal column. It also urged that an attempt be made to secure the presence of parents at the time when their children are being examined.

In accordance with this recommendation, during the fall term notices were sent to parents in advance of the time set for the examination of their children, urging them to come to the school to be present for the examination. The new building with its nurse's clinic room and teachers' room offers the best of opportunities for carrying out the strip-to-the-waist recommendation. The response of parents to the invitation sent them has been excellent, the examinations have been carried out as recommended by the State Department, the school nurse reports that in those cases where parents have been present it has been possible for doctor, parents, and nurse to talk over the child's physical condition, and frequently to come to agreement on plans for the removal of any remediable defects and for better safe-guarding and promoting the health of the children. While no reports have come to my office from parents regarding these examinations, from the standpoint of the schools at least the adoption of the recommendation of Dr. Moore and her assistants in this particular has resulted in a much improved procedure.

The appropriation made at the last annual town meeting of $150 for the dental clinic made it possible to keep the clinic open more days and more fully to care for the dental needs of the school children. I am chagrined over the fact that after the town had generously provided the increased appropriation asked for this should have been overexpended. There was no intention of exceeding the appropriation. I will gladly submit to whatever criticism is due the school department because of this, but hope that the slip will not cause resentment in the minds of the voters which will express itself in a refusal of the appropriation needed for this very valuable service to the school children of Hampden. Miss Polson reports that five children were treated at each of the two clinics held after the appropriation had been exhausted.

New Courses of Study.

During the past year two new courses of study issued by the State Department have been approved by the school board for use in the Hampden Schools, Health Education for Elementary Schools and Science for Elementary Schools. The course in health education correlates well with the series of textbooks already in use in our schools. The course in science is organized on the units of study basis, there being provided for each grade a large number of units of study with the expectation that the grade will make selection of those units which its environment and interests make best adapted for its use. So far as the lower grades are concerned, experienced teachers will recognize the units of study in science which are being carried through as very similar to bits of work formerly given in the schools under the name of Nature Study. This field of study, which has been somewhat neglected in the Hampden Schools, of late, has received new interest and attention as a result of the new course of study and of the better grouping of pupils for such work which has resulted from the consolidation of the schools.

The Hampden Town House.

For the last two years the major portion of the report of the Superintendent of Schools has been taken up with a discussion of the advantages that were coming to the town from the gift to it of the unique and very complete building which has been appropriately named the Hampden Town House. Thus far the school department has been unable to find any similar building in the country so complete in its provisions for caring for the public interests and social activities of a community. It is a great asset to the Town of Hampden.

Among the benefits which have come to the schools from the erection of this building may be named:

Better Grading. Ten years ago each teacher in town taught four grades, with the exception of the teacher at the Scantic School who taught eight grades. With the closing of the Scantic School and the partial consolidation which resulted, the primary teacher at the West Side taught grades 1, 2 and 3, at the Center, grades 1, 2, and 4. Grades 5 and 6 were at the West Side, grades 7 and 8 at the Center. Today with all the public school children of the town in one building one teacher has grades 1 and 2, another grades 3 and 4, the third grades 5 and 6, and the fourth grades 7 and 8.

Better Library Facilities. With the consent of the librarian, the teachers are privileged to go to the library at any time for books which they need for use in their classroom work. The teacher taking a book from the library leaves on the librarian's desk the customary card, and, when through with the book, returns it to its proper place on the library shelves. Thus far no friction has arisen over this arrangement. The privilege is greatly appreciated by the teachers and of great benefit to the schools.

An Assembly Hall. The fine assembly hall equipped with a baby grand piano given to the building by the T M T M Club of the town has been used by the teachers for school assemblies and by the supervisor of music for chorus singing. Plans are under consideration for making the assemblies an integral part of the school program. It is believed that they will be of great value in motivating the work in English and in music.

Shower Baths. While the shower baths thus far have been used more by outside organizations than by the schools, still they are available for the use of the school children. On application from parents, arrangements are made in the school's schedule for the use of the showers. Thus far applications have been received only in the case of children in the lower grades.

Greatly Improved Sanitary Conditions. There is no comparison to be made between the old school buildings with their sanitariums and somewhat primitive provisions for drinking water and hand washing and the thoroughly modern equipment in the new building. The change in this respect has made for decency and cleanliness.

Lunch Rooms and Play Rooms. The two large rooms in the basement under the classrooms are fitted out with tables and benches and are used for luncheon purposes during the noon hour, grades 1-4 lunching in one room under the supervision of their teachers, and grades 5-8 in the other under the supervision of their teachers. As the building is equipped with a fine kitchen, easily reached from these lunch rooms, it is to be hoped that when more prosperous times return provision may be made for a hot lunch service. On days when the weather does not permit games on the playground, the tables can be quickly taken down and the lunch rooms converted into playrooms.

Classrooms Greatly Improved in Convenience and Attractiveness. The jacketed stoves with their attendant wood boxes necessary at the West Side are gone. The heating and ventilating system seems to work as well as can be asked, the ventilated wardrobes at the rear of each classroom are an improvement over the hooks found in the corridors of the old buildings. The arrangement of blackboards, bulletin boards, and tracks for hanging maps is excellent. The unilateral lighting complies with the best standards. All these features contribute to the excellency of the schools.

The Full Time Janitor. Only one who has had experience in the two types of schools realizes how much a competent and obliging janitor on duty during the full school day can contribute to the schools. He means a cleaner building, a more carefully heated building, attention to many matters of repairs, and a constant supervision of the use of the building which is of value to the building and to the pupils and permits the teachers to devote their time more fully to their main task of instructing and training the pupils.

Woodworking Projects. The schools have been fortunate in the custodian that was selected for the Town House. Mr. Perkins has a background of experience with tools, an interest in boys and a knack for instructing and getting along with them. He has set up a work bench in the boiler room where during the school day, outside of the regular hours for classroom work, some of the older boys may usually be found greatly interested in coping saw and other forms of woodworking.

A Nurse's Clinic Room. As already pointed out, this greatly conveniences the program of the school physician and school nurse.

Without elaborating further in this report, I wish to close by recording my own personal lively admiration and appreciation of the spirit which prompted this splendid gift to the Town of Hampden.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERIC A. WHEELER.
